

Academic Advising Policy

All students are required to meet with an advisor prior to course registration for the next semester. Advisors assist with both course selection and academic planning. Many academic programs require specific sequencing in order to reach degree completion in a timely manner. Additionally, you will benefit from guidance in exploring potential majors and coordinating career goals with educational opportunities or study abroad programs.

- If you have not declared a major, you will be advised in the Center for Academic Advising.
- All students with Learning Support requirements are advised by Learning Support Staff and have mandatory advising until Learning Support requirements are satisfied. Once students have exited the course(s) in Learning Support area, they will be referred to an academic advisor for their intended major.
- Once you have a declared major, you'll be advised by a faculty advisors in your specific academic school to ensure you receive focused advising in your discipline and have access to important information regarding institutional requirements and resources.
- All students are reminded that they are ultimately responsible for their academic program and success. An academic advisor can never replace individual student responsibility.
